

BATHROOM REVIEW

>> A SOFTER LOOK

These adorable Italian-designed 'pillow' toilets are part of the Nic Design range from Studio Bagno. These, as well as a wall-hung version, are all WELS 4-Star rated, ensuring a greener flush, every time.

www.studiobagno.com.au

HIDDEN FROM VIEW

The new Geberit range of in-wall cisterns are WELS 4-Star rated for even more water-saving capacity. These products accommodate any approved toilet pan and brand and fit the whole range of Geberit actuators.

www.geberit.com.au

SHOWERING CONSCIENTIOUSLY HELPS PRESERVE OUR PLANET AND ITS BOUNTY

ECO-LIVING WINS AT REECE

The winner of the 2008 $20,000 Reece Bathroom Innovation Award is Justin Wagemakers of Sydney's Blue Sky Design Group for his Freeflow Shower (left). Lockie Von Moger from Swinburne University in Melbourne won the $10,000 student prize for his Ishi Shower. The 300 entries tended towards water saving.

www.reece.com.au

'SHOVE OFF' SHOWER

Italian designer Tommaso Colia's Eco_Drop Shower gives a clear message to save water. Time can get away from you languoring under the steaming spray; when the Eco_Drop gauges you've had long enough, it pushes up concentric relief-style circles on the floor, resembling droplets of water hitting a pool of water. The discomfort will have you reaching for your towel.

www.tommasocolia.com

TEXT: JENNIFER MCCARTHY